

The Provost's Forums on the Public University and the Social Good

Wednesday, October 21, 2015

Universities, Hospitals and the Social Mission

Julie A. Freischlag

Vice Chancellor for Human Health Sciences and Dean of UC Davis School of Medicine

Julie A. Freischlag oversees UC Davis Health System's academic, research and clinical programs, including the School of Medicine, the Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing, the 1,000-member physician practice group, and UC Davis Medical Center. Dean Freischlag is one of the most prominent leaders among the nation's academic health centers. For more than 15 years, she has led education and training programs at top medical schools in her role as professor and chair of surgery and vascular surgery departments. Before joining UC Davis Health System, she served as professor, chair of the surgery department and surgeon-in-chief at Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions. She led initiatives to expand research, add specialty clinical services, improve patient centered care and patient safety, redesign the surgical training program and enhance academic career paths for faculty. Dean Freischlag received a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Illinois and a medical degree from Rush University Medical College in Chicago. She completed her surgical residency and vascular fellowship at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA.

Glenn Richard Olds

Founding Dean of UC Riverside School of Medicine and President of St. George's University

Dr. Glenn Richard Olds is the President and Chief Executive Officer of St. George's University. Prior to this, Dr. Olds was most recently the Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs and Founding Dean of the School of Medicine at the University of California, Riverside (UCR). In 2010, Dr. Olds joined UCR to lead the creation of a new school of medicine, which was intended to address the severe doctor shortage in Inland Southern California. Dr. Olds is a tropical disease specialist with extensive experience working in Asia and Africa. He has served on the World Health Organization expert committee on schistosomiasis. He is a graduate of Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine and trained in internal medicine at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. He was an infectious disease fellow and one of the nation's first Geographic Medicine fellows at University Hospitals of Cleveland, where he also served as medical chief resident and faculty member. He served as full professor of medicine, pediatrics, molecular, cell and development biology at Brown University, and professor and chairman of medicine at the MetroHealth Campus of Case Western Reserve University.

Schools of medicine rely on hospitals and other clinical settings to train medical students—this relationship is complex.

Dean Freischlag will discuss the benefits and challenges of partnerships between universities and hospitals, as well as share insights on opportunities for mutual success during a time of intense change in health care and health education.

Dr. Olds will discuss how the new medical school at UC Riverside was built around community needs, using the community's resources as a teaching platform. He also will discuss his work on replicating this model on a national scale in his new position as the President of St. George's University in Grenada.

Lecture:

3 to 4:30 p.m.
Kalmanovitz Appellate
Courtroom
King Hall

Reception:

4:30 to 5:30 p.m.
Inside Patio
King Hall

UC DAVIS

Sponsors Include: The Office of the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor, UC Davis Medical Center, the Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing, the College of Biological Sciences, the Center for Regional Change, and the Community and Regional Development Program